

2018 Safety Survey Highlights

Jason Ward, California TrusFrame Molly Butz, SBCA Staff

What are the most common types of injuries at your facility/company?

Specific Injuries

Cuts, lacerations and punctures

Hands

Fingers

Palms

Sprains, strains and tears

Shoulders

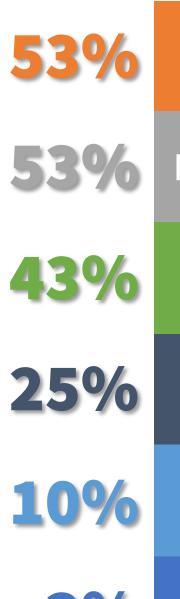

Wrists

Ankles

Backs

Musculoskeletal

Hernias

Certification levels/ratings

Employee recommendations

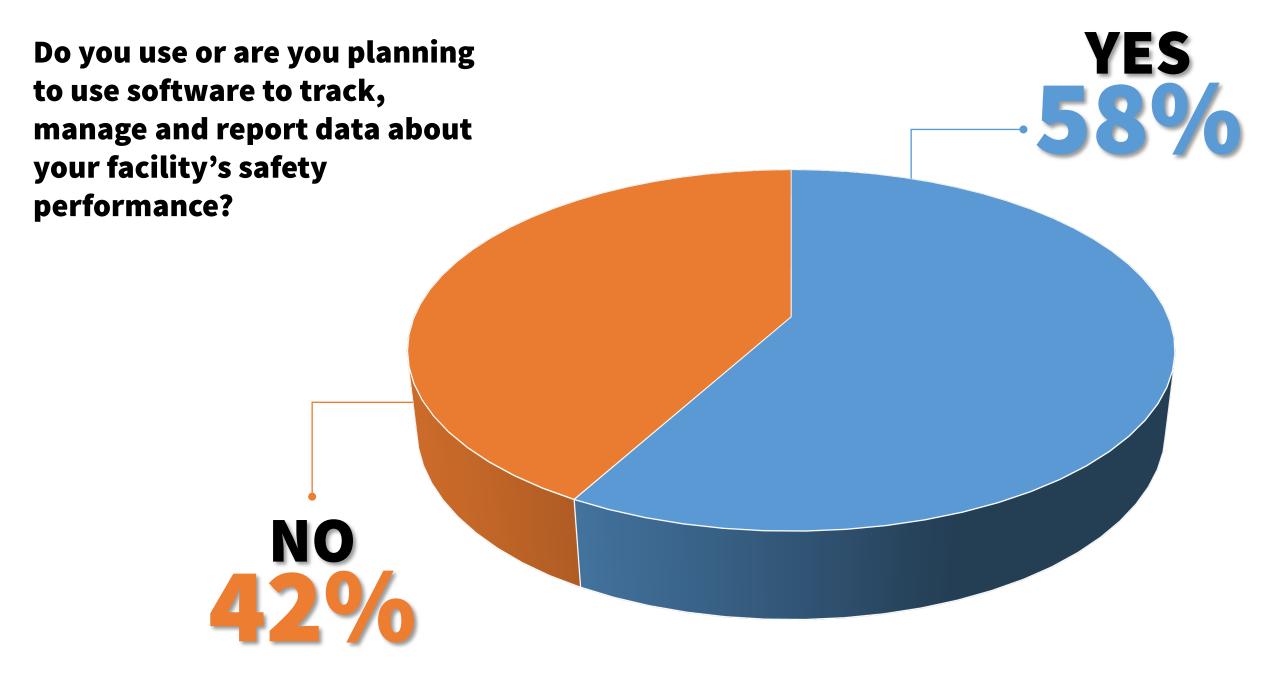

Price

Current safety initiatives

Other (Function, comfort)

Brand

When purchasing PPE, which two factors do you most consider?

Leading Indicators Tracked

Facility housekeeping		70%
Participation in safety meetings		65%
Equipment / machinery maintenance		60%
Near-misses		58%
Inspections / results		58%
Participation in safety training		55%
Participation in safety committees		53%
Employee audits / observations		50%
Safety action plans and their execution	35%
Overall employee engagement in safety	33%
Surveys 15%
Permit deviations 10%

What do you do with the leading indicators data you collect?

Update safety policies and procedures

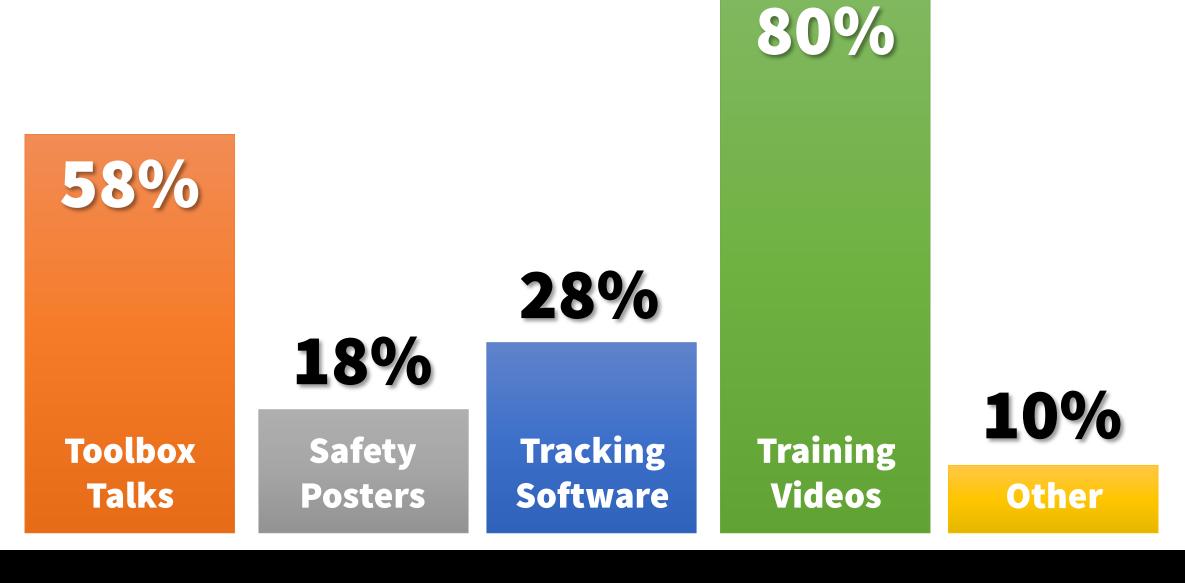

35%
Develop toolbox talks

10% Other 55%

Plan additional training

60%

Schedule safety meetings

Safety Committee Priorities

Hierarchy of Controls

